PROHIBITION ILLEGAL!
SAID JOHN D. TO HENRY F.
EUGENE MEYER, JR. IS ABLE EINSTEIN'S THREAT.

—By Arthur Brisbane—

The country discusses the decision of Federal Judge William T. Clark who says that prohibition isn't legal, because the people didn't pass on it.

Judge Clark is interesting to millions of men and women, although they may not know it, for he is one of the famous "O. N. T. Clark" family.

Judge Clark's decision that prohibition isn't legal will be reversed by the supreme court, probably.

That highest court will be slow to render a decision and making illegal all that has been done during the past 10 years in the crusade that has created bootleggers, the hijacking, the shootings, the racketeering and the other features of the bootleg industry.

The supreme court will hardly condemn everything that the national government has done in the name of prohibition at this late date.

Judge Clark, declaring that the people never had a chance to pass on the prohibition amendment, said:

"The people can't respect laws they don't pass."

Henry Ford believes in motorizing, even when the weather is cold. Yesterday, on his way from Washington to Detroit, his car collided with another. It might have been serious, but it wasn't. Mr. Ford laughed, took his damaged car to the nearest Ford agency, got another car, and continued on to Detroit.

Perhaps you would like to read in connection with that escape an anecdote concerning Mr. Ford's business life. Many at present will see a point in the story.

At a time when Mr. Ford and Rockefeller had never met, an important man from the Ford factory used to play golf occasionally with Mr. Rockefeller. The latter, deeply interested in great industrial organizations and accomplishments, sent to Henry Ford, each time he saw the Ford man, this message:

"Tell Mr. Ford to keep strong in cash, strong in cash."

Mr. Ford did keep strong in cash, and once, when high finance that keeps track of things, thought it was about time to "take Ford over," it discovered that he had a nest egg of three or four hundred million dollars, and wasn't ready to be taken.

Not long ago, when Henry Ford said John D. Rockefeller, Jr., he said: "I owe a great deal to your father," and told this story, adding: "I took your father's advice."

Having given $1,000,000 to the unemployment fund, John D. Rockefeller and his son now give $500,000 more from the Rockefeller foundation. John D. Rockefeller, Sr., in his 91st year, and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in his 56th year, both in excellent health, recall the ancient Jewish saying: "What you give in health is gold; what you give in sickness is silver; what you give after death is lead."

Mr. McFadden, in congress, objects to the confirmation of Eugene Meyer Jr., as governor of the federal reserve board, saying that Mr. Meyer would

(By Brush-Moore Leased Wire)

CANTON, Dec. 18.—Santa Claus has said goodbye to his reindeer and will arrive at the Fairmount Children's home Sunday at 1:30 p. m. via the air in a Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. blimp from Akron.

The jolly old man's voyage with toys and good things to eat for all members of the home is sponsored by the Kiwanis club of Canton and was made possible through the cooperation of H. L. Sampson, manager of the Tuscora Tire Co., who negotiated with Goodyear officials to secure the services of the blimp.

Mayor To Make Flight

Mayor H. R. Witter will make the flight with Santa Claus, the pilot, the toys and the good things to eat. The mayor and Santa Claus will leave Canton at 11:30 a. m., taking the gifts with them and will arrive at Akron in time to board the craft which will leave at 12:30 p. m. They expect to arrive at the field in front of the Fairmount Children's home in Alliance at about 1:30 p. m.

There the toys and other material will be unloaded. Santa will cut his characteristic capers among the children, and the stage set for a program which will begin at 2 p. m.

Entertainment Planned

The affair will consist of a skit to be presented by the children and will include songs, dialogues and selections by the band. A juggler and magician which the Kiwanians will bring to the home, will supplement the afternoon's entertainment.

Representatives from Kiwanis clubs in Wooster, Carrollton, Massillon, and New Philadelphia will be in attendance. The Canton club members and their wives will make the trip in a body by automobile.

Persons desiring to go up for a ride in the blimp from the field in Alliance will be afforded an opportunity to do so.

Rules Law Void

He held that the ratification of that amendment by the State legislatures was not the method prescribed by the amending article of the Constitution.

SENIORS SCORE IN PREMIER OF 'BROKEN DISHES'

High School Class Play Will Be Repeated Tonight

Amid the rattling of dishes, the ticking of the clock and high-pitched, shrill voices of feminine characters, "Broken Dishes", three-act comedy drama presented by the senior class of Salem High thrilled and entertained its audience at the high school auditorium Wednesday night.

The play, staged under direction of Miss Mary Lanpher, and received with enthusiasm by the audience, will be repeated at the school tonight. Proceeds of the entertainment will be donated to the Salem High School Alumni association and scholarship fund.

Portrays Family Life

The play, written by Martin Flavin, concerns the complete alterations in the life of an American family consisting of a quiet, well-meaning but very much "henpecked" husband, his dominating wife, their children and one daughter's romance with Bill Clark. Dale Wilson enacts the role of Cyrus Bumpstead, the father who, from his lowly existence as the mere man in the household,

BOY, 14, FACING FIRST DEGREE MURDER COUNT

Court Dismisses Abatement Plea In St. Clairsville Case

LAD IS HELD IN DEATH OF GROCER

Suffers Slight Heart Attack When Informed Of Ruling

(By Associated Press)

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Dec. 18.—J. Woods, 14-year-old alleged slayer must stand trial in Belmont county common pleas court on first degree murder charge, Common Pleas Judge W. W. Cowen ruled today.

Judge Cowen dismissed a plea in abatement filed to the first degree murder charge by the youth's attorneys. Woods is charged with the slaying several months ago of William Meeker, 68, Martins Ferry, during an attempted robbery.

Probate Sentence First

Judge Cowen held the youth must stand trial on the charge of murder in common pleas court but that in event he is convicted, the trial court must not pass sentence until after the probate court sentence in the Lancaster Boys industrial school has expired.

When informed that he must stand trial for murder, Woods suffered a slight heart attack, an ailment to which he had been susceptible recently, but he rallied when his attorney, David James of Martins Ferry told him that he would not permit "them to hurt you."

James, and William Nixon, Martins Ferry, the other defense attorneys, will confer later today with Prosecutor George C. McKelvey on the possibility of permitting the youth to plead guilty to a charge of second degree murder.

Await Court Approval

McKelvey has said he would approve such a plea but the plan has not received the approval of the court.

Woods was sentenced to the industrial school on charges of attacking Meeker, before the latter died. Meeker later died of injuries and Woods was returned here and indicted on a first degree murder charge with Louis Kuhn, 17, who pleaded guilty and now is serving a life term in Ohio penitentiary.

The common pleas court held that should the boy be convicted in common pleas court then "even after sentence to the penitentiary, the board of trustees may change commitment to the Boys' industrial school."

The fact that the youth is under sentence to the school from probate court does not preclude the possibility of his trial in the common pleas court, Judge Cowen held.

City In Southern Section Will Pay $28.90 On Each $1,000

NEW KENSINGTON SCHOOL RATE LOW

$21.30 Is Columbiana Assessment; $20.90 Leetonia's

With increases apparent in several major Columbiana county taxing districts, the city of Salem will rank fifth in the rate scale during the year 1931, County Auditor Elmer E. Walker announced today.

Wellsville Tops List

The city of Wellsville for the second consecutive year has the highest tax rate, with New Waterford village second. East Liverpool and East Palestine rates will again be higher than those established for this city.

Wellsville will pay a tax of $28.90 on every $1,000 valuation, an increase of 70 mills over the present rate. In New Waterford, where a higher rate will result from the issuance of bonds for street improvements, taxpayers will be assessed $28.80 on each $1,000.

East Liverpool and East Palestine taxing rates will be $24.90 and $24.70 respectively, while the rate for Salem is set at $24.30, Walker announced.

Salem's rate increases a result of increased city needs.

Some Rates Unchanged

Walker explained that increases resulted in some districts, rates in many of the county's 61 taxing districts will be the same as that prevalent during 1930.

The lowest rate in the county is $17 which will be levied against residents of the New Kensington school district. Perry township will have a rate of $20.80, Salem township $20.80 and Butler township $19.50. Nine taxing districts will have a rate of $17.40 while the majority in the smaller sections range from that amount to $21.

Other Districts Listed

Rates of various other taxing districts are: Lisbon village $21.40; Columbiana $21.30; Leetonia $20.90; Liverpool township and a section of St. Clair township in the East Liverpool city school district $22.40.

The county commissioners have extended the time limit for the first payment from December 20, 1930, to January 20, 1931. The rates are based on budgets furnished the county budget commission by the state, county commissioners, city councils, boards of education and township trustees.

BRIGHT GUILTY ON AUTO COUNT

Common Pleas Court Jury Returns Verdict Against Wellsville's Former Cemetery Sexton

LISBON, Dec. 18.—William G. Bright, 60, former sexton of Springfield cemetery, Wellsville, indicted by the last September grand jury for failure to stop his automobile after striking Paul Culp, aged 7 years, when he was driving on Tenth street, Wellsville, yesterday was found guilty by a jury in common pleas court.

After Judge W. F. Lones completed his charge to the jury, Bright and his counsel returned to Wellsville. After being cut about an hour, the jury returned to the court room, but neither the defendant or his counsel were in court.

Reading of the verdict by Clerk of Courts John A. Noble was withheld until Bright and his attorneys returned.

Under the provision of section 12607 of the general code, Bright is subject to a fine of $200 or imprisonment for six months or both.

Mythical Game

BEVERLY HILLS, CALIF., Dec. 18.—One of the best things I heard of, and it might be copied everywhere, was done by Uncle Josephus Daniels and his Raleigh News and Observer.

North Carolina and Duke university had played a tie game, and there was a big demand or them to play a benefit game, but the Southern Conference forbade (that's one thing about a conference, they want to keep the dough in the conference).

Anthony McKelvin of above paper got the idea of having a mythical game, selling tickets, all charity and not football. Well, it went great. You would be surprised how many people will pay not to see football. So why not sell charity tickets all over a synthetic Notre Dame-Alabama game?

JUDGE CLARK'S RULING

Two half-frozen state troopers

stopped a truck in New Jersey last

March 3. Fifty half-barrels of beer

were found. The person in charge,

William Sprague, was charged with

possessing and transporting beer

containing "more than one-half of

one per cent of alcohol."

No one paid any attention to the arrest at the time. Sprague was admitted to bail and when the indictment was returned obtained counsel,

a former United States attorney. On examining the case the attorney

discovered that it was not complicated

by collateral issues but involved only

a simple violation of the Volstead

act—that of transporting beer with-

in the state and possessing it. He

determined to make it a test case

to take before the supreme court

of the United States.

When the government offered its

proof, Sprague's attorney offered no

defense. Instead, he requested the court to charge the jury to bring

a verdict of not guilty on the ground that the indictment did not

charge an offense against the United States because interstate transportation of beer would not be un-

lawful except for the Volstead act,

and likewise possession of beer; and

because the Volstead act, being

based upon the 18th amendment to

the constitution of the United States, is an unlawful act of Congress, since the amendment never

was ratified legally and therefore

is not and never has been a part of the constitution.

From that beginning grew the ruling of Federal Judge William Clark

of New Jersey, published Wednes-

day, to the effect that the method

of adoption makes the 18th amendment invalid. Sprague, of course, has been relegated to the background,

the constitutionality of the amendment has become the issue. The constitution of a committee of the New

York County Lawyers' association,

arguing the case, has been that the

adoption of the 18th amendment

was invalid under the 10th amendment, which modified article 5.

Judge Clark's ruling upholds the

committee's principle, although it

offers widely in argumentative

sources and details.

"Opinion on the ruling, its strength

and weakness, is a task for minds

faithfully fortified in constitutional

practice. It will require several days,

at least, before constitutional lawyers will venture tentative opinions

and there can be no authoritative

decision unless the supreme court

gives a decision. That, of course, is

the objective sought by the New York County Lawyers' association.

The lay mind will see the force of

two arguments, however, both dependent on common sense.

Any ruling on one amendment to the constitution that might also affect a previous amendment must be

judged with the welfare of the

previous amendments foremost in

consideration. In other words, the supreme court knowing there is intention of an attack on the validity

of one amendment, might be expected to exercise extreme caution

before giving a decision that would

jeopardize the standing of other amendments.

More germane to the specific instance is the vital consideration that

the 18th amendment has stood for

more than a decade, has been the

basis of an important national precedent and, through the Volstead

act, of countless convictions. To admit now that it is unconstitutional

would be to precipitate a condition

of legal chaos. In a very real way

the strength of the supreme court

would be at stake.

A timely warning at the moment

would be: Discard liberally from cliffs made by both wet and dry

to allow for the pressure of strong

feeling and prejudice. If the supreme court gives a decision there will be

time enough to become excited.

THE BUSY SENATE

The senate foreign relations committee has voted to defer consideration of the World Court protocols until December. It is the short session's policy of postponing the matter to legislative limbo as far as it is concerned.

Proponents of American adherence to the World Court naturally are displeased with further delay of the approval they expect the senate will give, but they are forced to admit that the reasons given for the postponement are convincing. The senate is engaged deeply in budgetary debate and action; consideration of an issue calling for as careful weighing as the World Court necessarily does would be crowded in and slighted. The apparently gripping fight that the duly elected representatives of the people may be called into an extra session also is called by the foreign relations committee's decision.

Barring unforeseen developments in international attitudes, sentiment favoring acceptance of the protocols as they stand now will increase during the next year. Opinion, as expressed in the newspapers of the nation, is overwhelmingly in favor of United States adherence to the court. The present strong feeling might have been an anti-climax for a less important issue but it will be viewed wholly as a complementary climax as time brings more clear understanding of the World Court.

The senate is very busy. A perusal of the congressional record shows it to be so. It can only be hoped that in the long view all its business will stand up worthily in comparison with the important issue it is postponing.

What Others Say
BUSINESS AND LETTERS IN AMERICA

Some of our self-styled literary iconoclasts are suffering so severely from an inferiority complex that they would be benefited by the attentions of a psychoanalyst. In his address delivered when accepting the Nobel prize for literature Sinclair Lewis showed singularly poor taste and a curious lack of the sense of fitness, by emitting a tirade against American literary conventions and the alleged standards imposed by business men on artists and authors. Commercialism, he declared, ruled his native land, and the novelist, the dramatist and the poet were regarded with galling condescension. In fiction, he continued, truth and realism were taboo and in serious form of literature honest national self-criticism was deprecated and regarded as treason.

Even if these statements were approximately true—and they are not—Mr. Lewis might have chosen a more appropriate occasion for the ventilation of his grievances. If America were indeed emerging from dull and safe provincialism, as the Nobel prize winner asserts, then his audience of savants and other cultured citizens of Sweden would have been interested in the signs of that emergence. Mr. Lewis violated his own doctrines in his negative and censorious remarks. He was not realistic and he was not progressive. He aired personal grudges instead of interpreting significant tendencies.

Creative work is not denied appreciation in the United States. It is ridiculous to assert that inferior positions are assigned to literary and other artists. They select their own positions, which are not inferior. Science and art directly or indirectly mold the thought and color the existence of the business leaders. Architecture, music, history, biography and criticism are not without honor and influence even in the marts of Mammon.

The shallow pessimism of the literary insurgents of today is itself a dreary and empty convention.—Chicago News.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

Varicose Veins

Varicose veins have undoubtedly troubled mankind ever since the days of Noah. Of course, it is an ailment that has become more common since his time. No doubt we may attribute this increased prevalence to our modern manner of living. Whenever the word "varicose" is used, it refers to an unnatural swelling. That is exactly what we are dealing with in varicose veins. The veins are unduly large, appear swollen, and there is stagnation of blood in the vessels. The poor circulation is due to the loss of elasticity in the walls of the veins.

The condition is most commonly seen in adult women, particularly after child-birth. It is sometimes met in male adults, particularly in men whose work requires long and uninterrupted standing. The veins of the lower extremities and rectum are particularly liable to attack. In the latter region it is spoken of as "hemorrhoids," or "piles." It may do so, but it very rarely involves other parts of the body.

No one cause can be held responsible for this condition. Some persons even under the same conditions of living, are much more liable than others to the formation of varicose veins. On this account the ailment has been considered hereditary. Undoubtedly this factor plays a role in the condition.

As I have suggested, persons whose occupation demand long continued standing are more prone to the condition. This is especially so if they happen to be overweight or even moderately stout. There is a loss in the tone of the vessel wall. Consequently its tissues relax because of the natural weakness and with additional weight to support, they soon stretch.

People with varicose veins should never wear tight garters or other constricting clothes. If constipation is present it should be corrected. Avoid standing as much as possible. When resting after a day's work the feet should be elevated on a couch or chair.

The use of the rubber stocking is of doubtful value. It soon loses its elasticity and when worn after that happens, it does more harm than good.

Mechanical Support For mechanical support your physician will bandage your legs with a "figure of eight" dressing. After you have watched him apply it a few times, you will have no difficulty in applying the bandage yourself. For this purpose it is considered good practice to use an elastic gauze bandage. Such bandages are not only elastic but they can be washed and kept clean.

Recently the so-called injection treatment for varicose veins has been used with great success. I am told. By those who apply it this method is considered preferable to the operation which is sometimes indicated. The injection of certain medications into the varicose vein causes its disappearance. The procedure is simple, painless and rightly applied is without danger.

Needless to say, this ailment is one that requires the personal and skillful attention of the physician. Under his direction you may hope for relief.

Answers to Health Queries W. C. Q.—What proportion of peroxide and ammonia should be used to bleach the skin? A.—This would be very drastic treatment for the delicate texture of the skin. Try using equal parts of lemon juice and peroxide and if the preparation is drying, it might be wise to use a good cold cream after each application.

LIQUOR RULING SPEEDS TOWARD HIGH TRIBUNAL

Supreme Court To Get Clark's Decision On Amendment

(By Associated Press)
TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 18.—Federal authorities moved today to expedite to the Supreme Court Judge William Clark's decision invalidating the Eighteenth amendment.
Philip Forman, United States attorney, returned from Washington where he conferred with Attorney General Mitchell and other officials.
Will Go To High Court
He said he planned to ask Clark today to have the legal machinery set in motion which will carry the case to the United States vs. Sprague and Howey to the highest court. The necessary steps include entering of a judgement by Judge Clark, filing of an appeal petition and the granting of an order for the appeal by the court.
The effect of filing an appeal will be to hold Judge Clark's decision in abeyance until it has been reviewed by the supreme court.
Although defense attorneys in New Jersey and other states lost no time in seeking to have indictments against their clients quashed on the basis of Judge Clark's decision, other federal judges refused to follow the invalidating opinion.
Not Bound By Decision
Federal Judge William Runyon at Newark, in the first liquor case before him after the rendering of Judge Clark's opinion, refused to dismiss the defendant on the ground the Eighteenth amendment was invalid. He said he was not bound by Judge Clark's decision and that the supreme court had passed on the Eighteenth amendment.
In Boston, three former assistant United States attorneys, acting as counsel for three liquor case defendants, filed motions to quash the indictments, basing their motions on the New Jersey decision that Eighteenth amendment was invalid. The United States attorney's office said the Clark decision was of no effect in that district.
Two cases in which the validity of the Eighteenth amendment is attacked are now pending in federal courts in New York and Rhode Island.

Battle Of Shears Ends In Court

(By Associated Press)
DETROIT, Dec. 18.—Joseph Woznick took one look at his wife's haircut and said flatly he didn't like it.
"I'm going to give that barber a trimming," said he.
Forthwith he went to Henry Lienau's barbershop.
"Which one of you fellows cut my wife's hair?" he demanded.
Charles Kirsch, busily working on a customer, was pointed out by Lienau.
"All right," said Joseph, "I'll just trim up your hair like you did my wife's." He seized a pair of shears and fell to work.
The hair flew as tonorial work was suspended and all hands rushed to Kirsch's defense. Lienau received several jabs with shears. The whole affair wound up in court yesterday when Woznick was ordered to pay Lienau $100 damages. He also paid a $10 fine for disorderly conduct.

STATE MOURNS LOSS OF SENATOR FRANK L. GREENE

Wife, Daughter At Bed-side; Two Sons Also Survive

(By Associated Press)
ST. ALBANS, VT., Dec. 18.—Vermont today mourned the passing of Frank L. Greene, her senior United States senator. He died here yesterday after an operation Monday.
Two sons, Stuart of Boston, and Captain Richard Greene, U. S. A., who is stationed at Fort Sill, Okla., were enroute to their home here today. Captain Greene planned to make most of the journey by airplane.
Wife, Daughter At Side.
Senator Greene's wife and daughter, Mrs. Harris Alexander, were at his side when he died.
Senator Greene had been partially paralyzed since 1924 when he was struck by a stray bullet fired in a gun fight between bootleggers and prohibition agents in Washington. For days his life was despaired of. It was at this time that he showed his loyalty to his duty and his unflinching support to Calvin Coolidge, when he insisted on being carried into the senate chamber to vote in support of President's Coolidge's veto of the bonus bill. His right arm was paralyzed and one leg affected by the wound.
Began As Newsboy
He was born here, Feb. 10, 1870. He sold papers, ran errands, acted as a janitor and did farm work, when a boy.
In 1891 he became a reporter for the St. Albans Daily Messenger and eight years later was its editor.
In 1902 he entered politics as a member of the Vermont house of representatives. He served as a delegate at large to the Republican National convention six years and in 1912 was elected to congress. He entered the senate in 1923 and two years ago was re-elected to serve until 1935.
Funeral services will be held Saturday. Burial will be in St. Albans.

THREE BANDITS DIE IN HOLDUPS

Former Orchestra Leader Slain In Attempted Robbery

(By International News Service)
CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—One of three bandits slain last night in attempted robberies was identified by authorities today as Joseph Shoor, 35, formerly well-known orchestra leader of Detroit and Madison, Wis.
Sixth To Be Killed
The robber identified as Shoor was the sixth to be shot and killed here this week in attempted store holdups that went awry. Another victim, likewise an orchestra leader, was Henry Escalona, who was killed in a butcher shop holdup.
Shoor, who formerly led an orchestra in one of Detroit's largest night clubs, entered a loop haberdashery last night and after purchasing a muffler, drew a revolver. Policeman Michael nearly stepped from a rear room where he had been stationed and drew his revolver. Shoor fell dead with six bullets in his body.

MADRID GAINS UPPER HAND IN STRIKE SIEGE

Monarchy Throttles Rebellion In Widespread Parts Of Spain

(By Associated Press)
MADRID, Dec. 18.—General strikes in widespread parts of Spain plagued the government today, but the monarchy slowly was throttling them and re-establishing order.
Eleven persons were killed and a number wounded in disturbances yesterday in Torrevelaga, the Province of Andalusia, and Oviedo. The government claimed to be in definite ascendancy everywhere except in Alicante with some agitation in Barcelona.
Mount Machine Guns
Thousands of troops and members of the Spanish Foreign Legion have been rushed to Alicante to quell disturbances there. Machine guns have been mounted at strategic places and many arrests have been made.
Legionnaires re-took the railroad station at Elda from strikers who captured it and cut private and state telegraph lines. The encounter developed into a brisk fight. Strikers and police fought in Alicante with the military finally restoring order. There were clashes

We are wishing you a merry Christmas—you, and every member of your family.

There are two good ways to avoid alimony—either stay single or stay married.

Every year we hear certain men say they are not going to do any Christmas shopping. But you'll find those same men tearing around the evening of the 24th doing some last-minute selections.

We sure have a fine selection of skates from $1.35 to $7.50! They are always the best for Christmas gifts. We also have sleds priced from $1.49 up, wagons at $1.25 up and some very fine skis.

We have Christmas tree lights for only 50c per set—but they will not last long at that price.

Colored lady: "Dat mar o' mine sho' is a good-man to me. Las' Christmas he done got me a Victrola and I mos' got it paid for."

OUR Annual Christmas Advice! Be careful to keep the candles away from the tree decorations. And don't let Santa get his whiskers in 'em!

The ideal gifts usually are electrical gifts. Come in and see the full line of useful articles we have on display.

"A straight line is the shortest distance..."

YOU need a flashlight or an alarm clock. That's one point in a common geometrical problem. Somewhere a manufacturer is making, a store is offering for sale, exactly the flashlight or alarm clock you should have. That's the second point in your private problem. . . . And advertising is the straight line that shows the shortest distance between the two!

Day after day, in the advertising pages, you'll find straight lines drawn direct to the products you need. Look for them. Follow them. They may save you hours of searching!

And more than time, they'll save you money. Advertised products are those whose honest worth has made them popular. Merchants and manufacturers who advertise regularly have passed the public's test of fair dealing and reliability. By studying their announcements in the light of your own needs, you can buy most wisely and well.

COUNTY AGENT OUTLINES WORK FOR NEXT YEAR

Lower Says Outlook Good If Sufficient Funds Are Available

County Extension Agent Floyd Lower today declared that the outlook for the 1931 extension program is good, provided sufficient funds can be procured.

Lower points out that rural communities are more interested in extension work, and that more leaders are continuing being available, and that during the current year several former 4-H club members have become club leaders. As the extension program grows, more dependence must be placed upon local leaders, Lower said, and also that if the work is not to be curtailed more money must be made available.

Emphasizes Management

Lower holds the opinion that farm management should be more strongly emphasized and many of the extension projects should be built around it.

Following is the suggested program of work for 1931:

Continue and expand 4-H club work.

Enroll more young farmers in keeping farm accounts and hold quarterly group meetings of the cooperators to study farm management. Assist those completing records to readjust their farm business. Help prepare a county summary. Conduct a series of weekly meetings to study farm management with one local group.

Growers Meeting in Salem

Continue seed potato work, including test plots and a Michigan tour. Hold growers' meeting at Salem. Enroll several in 400 bushel club project and demonstrate roguing.

Reorganize the Dairy Improvement association. Hold a series of three meetings with two locals of the D. C. S. Company discussing the dairy situation feeding, and legume growing.

Continue the fruit spray information service. Hold another vegetable growers' meeting.

Extend the home beautification work to include more landscape demonstrations. Encourage reforestation.

Hold several meetings with the Soils Laboratory to give soil testing service. Arrange winter meetings for those bringing samples to the laboratory last October to discuss fertility problems.

Help arrange a series of three meetings on recreation and meeting material for leaders and officers of rural organizations.

Discuss Chick Rearing

Conduct a "Grow Healthy Pullet" project with the cooperation of the hatcherymen. Arrange a meeting of hatcherymen and of cooperators to discuss chick rearing. Establish a poultry sanitation demonstration for disease control. Hold a fall tour. Continue poultry records.

Cooperate in holding farmers' institutes. Cooperate with and assist all the rural organizations whenever possible. Help plan the township Farm Bureau programs for next year.

Aid in completing the bee inspection work. Assist in rural electrification work. Arrange live stock grading demonstrations. Disseminate economic information on production and market situations.

Arrange meetings for directors and officers of cooperative organizations to study and discuss membership and business management problems.

SENIORS SCORE IN CLASS PLAY

High School Production To Be Repeated Tonight

develops into the family dictator, with Mrs. Bumpstead being characterized by Susan Lutch.

Dorothy Haroff portrays the role of Myra Bumpstead, Garnet Lodge is Mabel, a third daughter, with Margaret Steele playing the part of Elaine Bumpstead, the younger daughter who is in love with Bill Clark, played by Donald Lease.

Action becomes concentrated on the romance between Clark, a grocery delivery boy, and Elaine, and the mother's opposition to the marriage.

Former Sultor Model

Mrs. Bumpstead has set up for her family, as a model, a former sultor, Victor Orashan. Though they have never seen him, the family has become familiarized with Orashan's character and easily recognizes him when he visits the home.

Myra and Mabel listen with fascination to Mrs. Bumpstead's complaints of Orashan but Elaine refuses to be impressed and agrees with her father.

The father breaks over from his quiet existence when Sam Green, played by Henry Reese, persuades him to attend a lodge meeting and later becomes intoxicated, smokes in the house, against all past family precedent—and humorous action becomes the center of activity.

A pastor, Rev. Stump, who is Donald Miller, plays an important part in the drama. The climax occurs in the entrance of George Ballantine as Detective Quinn who arrests the stranger, Orashan, as a thief and forger, and Mrs. Bumpstead tells her astounded family the sultor was but a grocery boy.

All members of the cast enacted roles well. The play is expected to attract another large audience in its presentation tonight.

AKRON MAYOR DENIES PART IN GRAFT PLOTTING

Weil Refutes Statements Made By Chief Of Police Boss

(By International News Service)

AKRON, Dec. 18.—Allegations and denials that Mayor G. Lloyd Weil of Akron, had a part in an alleged "protection" scheme for underworld activities, had entered the records of a special investigating committee of city council today, as the committee continued its probe into reputed irregularities in the city administration.

Refutes Chief Statements

Following Chief of Police Frank J. Boss to the stand at a meeting of the graft investigating committee late yesterday, Mayor Weil refuted statements made by the officer that the city executive was involved in any unscrupulous deals with underworld characters.

Mayor Weil denied under oath that he had sent Boss to a bath here last Feb. 7 to confer with Leo Isar, reputed ex-corn sugar "king" of Akron, relative to protection of underworld resorts. Boss had previously testified that he had gone to the hotel to meet Isar, after he had been requested to do so over the telephone by a voice he said he believed to have been the mayor's.

The police chief testified that he had gone to the hotel and Isar had asked him to "appoint certain policemen to the vice squad and raid the places he told me to and to lay off other places."

"He said he would pay me $500 for the first month and $1,000 a month thereafter if I would do as he said," Chief Boss asserted on the stand. The chief stated he refused to comply with Isar's requests and left the hotel.

"MEN OF THE NORTH"

At the Grand

"Men of the North", adventure romance of the North woods, is the attraction tonight at the Grand theatre, with Gilbert Roland and Barbara Leonard heading a large cast of well known players.

The play deals with the adventure of Louis the Fox, French Canadian trapper, wrongly suspected of theft and dogged through the snows by the Northwest Mounted sergeant, Mooney. His love for the Montreal heroine, and his adventures in the snow lands, the rescue of his pursuer at the risk of his own life and freedom, and other incidents abound in the vivid romance of the French Canadian wilds.

The dramatic highlights include the rescue by Louis of the wounded officer, knowing that the act means his arrest; the avalanche that covers the heroine, her rescue from the icy tomb by Louis, the dramatic encounter of hunter and hunted in the snow-bound cabin, and the thrilling dog team dash through the blizzard in the wolf country.

Roland, who plays the hero, is remembered for his roles in "Camille," "The Dove," "A Woman Disputed" and Miss Leonard for her work in "Ladies of the Night Club," "Son of the Gods". The cast includes Robert Elliott, as Mooney, the police sergeant; George Davis, as the corporal; Nema, as the half-breed chieftain; and Arnold Korff, famous European actor.

"THE DANCERS"

At the State

When the rhythm of the dance waves its spell over two beautiful women and embroils a sentimental sweetheart and a ne'er-do-well son of wealth, dramatic intensity is sure to follow.

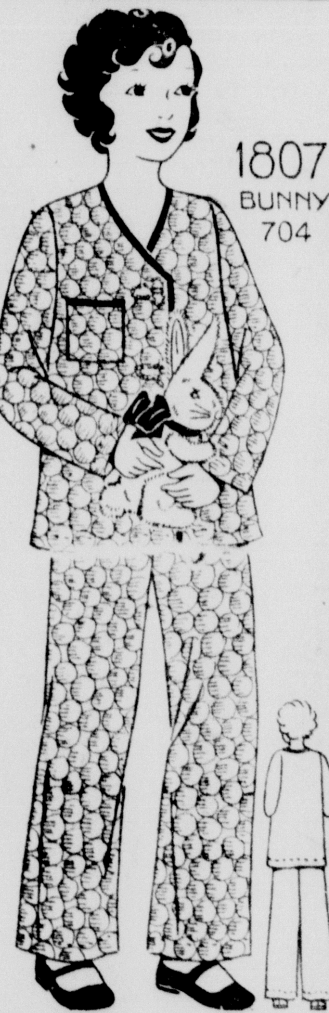

This situation in the Fox Movietone version of the famous stage play, "The Dancers," featuring Lois Moran, which will be shown at the State theatre beginning tonight, comes at the climax of the picture when Phillips Holmes engages Walter Byron, the ne'er-do-well, in a battle over Lois' affections.

Their struggle over this girl, temporarily blinded by the pleasures of gay night life and dancing, is brought to vivid contrast by the pathetic plight of Mae Clarke who, as a professional dancer, is forced to look on while the boy she loves is made a fool of by Lois' selfish behavior.

Lois Moran gives one of the best performances of her career in the role of a dance-crazed modern who all but lost the man she loved before she realized that "all who dance must play the fiddler."

Holmes is splendid and in addition to these players mentioned the cast includes Mrs. Patrick Campbell and Tyrell Davis, the comedian.

THE DAY In Sports

CANTON, AKRON STRONG STARS ON BOTH TEAMS

Salem basketball fans witnessing the two basketball games at Canton McKinley and Akron East this Friday and Saturday will be afforded the opportunity of seeing two potential state championship aggregations in action against Floyd Stone's Red and Black hard-wood representatives. Both East and Canton were contestants for Ohio titular laurels last season, Canton advancing to the semi-finals while East went as far as the finals. Each team has the greater portion of its 1929-30 aggregation available this season.

Stone has four lettermen back this year but this doesn't indicate that his team will be anything outstanding. Chances for a victory over either the Canton or Akron scholastics are slim but a couple of classy contests are assured.

East last season, sharing North-eastern Ohio honors with McKinley held the Akron city championship and won 14 out of 15 games played during the regular season. A total of 322 points were scored against only 200 by opponents, indicating the team had a powerful offense that held opponents to an average of less than 15 points a game. Russell Estey, all-Ohio forward, led the team scoring with 116 points.

Canton has great prospects of developing a more powerful team than its 1929-30 edition, having nine lettermen back. McKinley lost its chance for the state title when it was eliminated by Dayton Stivers, 25-18 in the Ohio tournament last year, but hopes to attain the championship this season. East, after defeating Zanesville and Fremont, lost to Stivers in the final in a nerve-ringing 18-16 affair.

Believe it or not but two Illinois high school teams clashed in a game that ended 1-0 last season! They were Georgetown and Homer who played in an Illinois district tournament on March 6, 1930. Georgetown scored a foul goal in the first period and retained the lead by stalling. Homer refused to attempt to break up the stall until the last three minutes of play. Some game!

To those fans looking for some really good basketball it will prove worth while to visit the Memorial building when either Class A or Class B games are in progress. In the Class A circuit four strong teams are competing for titular laurels with the Grove Electrics and Golden Eagles now holding first place, having won their first game, while the Electric Furnace and McArthur Florists each have one setback.

The Class B league includes many players who last year were playing with Class A teams. Much interest is shown in this circuit by fans, it being without a doubt the best of its kind ever organized here. Only a handful of fans take advantage of the entertainment afforded at the games but it is probable that after the holidays are over increased attendance will result.

The game that is expected to pack them in will be played Monday night when Malcolm Rush, Pete Harsh, Les Older, Bob Campbell and other members of the Salem High team of 1926-27 clash with the Columbiana Boosters at the high school gymnasium. Proceeds of the contest will be used to purchase Christmas dinners for 235 Salem youngsters next week.

Ray Reasback, eminent sports authority, will officiate, having contributed his services. A preliminary game will also be played.

GROVE ELECTRIC CAGERS ON TOP IN TWO GAMES

Lisbon, New Waterford In Defeats; Golden Eagle Rolls Up Score

R. E. Grove Electric and the Golden Eagle basketball teams of Salem won easy decisions in three Class A cage contests at the Memorial building gymnasium Wednesday night. The Grovemans defeated invading quintets from New Waterford and the Lisbon Pennzils while the Golden Eagle trounced the Lisbon Lumbers.

Great offensive work of the Golden Eagle was the outstanding feature of the cage entertainment, the Salem champions rolling up a 69-10 score on the losers.

The Electrics found the Lisbon Pennzils tough opposition for three periods but started connecting for points in the final quarter to roll up a 44-20 score. At the start of the period the Grovemans led by a 24-18 score.

The final contest saw Groves trounce the New Waterford Independents, 24-14.

Tonight the Electrics battle the newly organized Leetonia Merchants at Kelly's park. The Salem Althouse-Brown Studebakers oppose the Waterford Independents in the preliminary at 7:30.

The conflagration at this movie colony broke out in the home of Elizabeth J. Graham and fanned by a brisk wind, spread to adjoining homes. In the foreground is the smoldering ruin of Louise Fazenda's erstwhile residence. Frank Fay, screen and stage comedian, lived in the house that was on the extreme right. Marie Prevost, A. L. Rockett, producer; George De Sylva, song writer, and Ben Hendricks, Jr., were others who saw their cozy homes in the film colony go up in smoke. The damage is estimated at $250,000.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

By Wanda Barton

Prepare for Christmas Packaging.

A liberal supply of holiday packaging materials, if stocked up in advance, will not only be a convenience for the planned gifts, but may also come to the rescue in emergencies. No matter how carefully thought out, there are usually gaps at the last minute—gracious last-minute gifts one didn't expect to make. Sometimes to people one hadn't expected to remember. The gift hurriedly selected doesn't give the show away if it's handsomely packed.

And holiday wrappings add a smart touch to the little home-made gifts—the handworked articles for living room or boudoir, the cookies, plum puddings, home-made candies. These, by the way are more appreciated than ever nowadays, when there are so many young people who don't keep house, and whose relish for home-prepared goodies is exceedingly high, now that they don't get much of it. Home-made candy

may not have the perfect finish of the shop article, but the amateur appearance of it gives it a reputation for superior flavor.

The farseeing housekeeper who has an overflowing crock of home-made cookies on hand—plus a shelf of holiday wrapping materials—need have no worry about last-minute gifts to those inadvertently overlooked, or suddenly appeared on the scene.

In addition to the ordinary holly and evergreen paper boxes, a small supply of inexpensive wooden boxes will prove helpful. Some of these colorful boxes, in vivid reds and blacks and greens, after the Russian manner, can now be obtained in modest shops. Filled with home-made goodies they are quite a handsome gift. Or fancy shallow trays with metal handles, if filled with home-made candies or cookies, tied in colored paper and ribbons like fruit baskets, can be kept in a small space, and will come in very handy indeed.

Varying the Christmas Cranberry Dish

For best results, choose cranberries that are fairly large, or at least moderate sized, not the small ones. And they should be a good ripe, uniform red, firm to the touch. Scraggy cranberries, or spotty brown ones aren't worth bothering with. Cranberries are usually served in jelly form, because the skin, if cooked too long, is stinky and unpleasant. However there is a way of cooking the cranberries whole, so that they retain their shape and color, and the skin is tender and edible as much as gooseberries or plums.

Whole Cooked Cranberries

6 cups cranberries
2 cups sugar
1½ cups water.

After the cranberries are washed and drained, place in an enamel saucepan with the sugar and water. Let come to a boil, then cover very tightly, reduce the heat a little, and let cook over a moderate flame for 10 minutes. Do not stir at any time. Remove the scum when finished, then pour carefully into a serving dish and set aside to cool.

Cranberry Jelly

1 quart cranberries
2 cups water
2 cups sugar.

Place the washed berries in a saucepan with water and cook for 20 minutes. Force through a sieve, then pour back into saucepan, add sugar and bring to a boil, then cook 5 minutes more.

When cooking cranberries a pleasant

flavor is imparted to the fruit by adding some chopped pineapple, or dried apples or a half cupful of seedless grapes.

When firm, cranberry jelly can be used as a garnish—cut into small dice and arrange on plates of cold meat, or on salads.

PROHIBITION ILLEGAL!
SAID JOHN D. TO HENRY F.
EUGENE MEYER, JR. IS ABLE
EINSTEIN'S THREAT.

By Arthur Brisbane

(Copyright 1930 By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

The country discusses the decision of Federal Judge William T. Clark who says that prohibition isn't legal, because the people didn't pass on it.

Judge Clark is interesting to millions of men and women, although they may not know it, for he is one of the famous "O. N. T. Clark thread" family.

Judge Clark's decision that prohibition isn't legal will be reversed by the supreme court, probably.

That highest court will be slow to render a decision and making illegal all that has been done during the past 10 years in the crusade that has created bootleggers, the hijacking, the shootings, the racketeering and the other features of the bootleg industry.

The supreme court will hardly condemn everything that the National government has done in the name of prohibition at this late date.

Judge Clark, declaring that the people never had a chance to pass on the prohibition amendment, said:

"The people can't respect laws they don't pass."

Henry Ford believes in motoring, even when the weather is cold. Yesterday, on his way from Washington to Detroit, his car collided with another. It might have been serious, but it wasn't.

Mr. Ford laughed, took his damaged car to the nearest Ford agency, got another car, and continued on to Detroit.

Perhaps you would like to read in connection with that escape an anecdote concerning Mr. Ford's business life. Many, at present will see a point in the story.

At a time when Mr. Ford and Rockefeller had never met, an important man from the Ford factory used to play golf occasionally with Mr. Rockefeller. The latter, deeply interested in great industrial organizations and accomplishments, sent to Henry Ford, each time he saw the Ford man, this message:

"Tell Mr. Ford to keep strong in cash, strong in cash."

Mr. Ford did keep strong in cash, and once, when high finance that keeps track of things, thought it was about time to "take Ford over," it discovered that he had a nest egg of three or four hundred million dollars, and wasn't ready to be taken.

Not long ago, when Henry Ford saw John D. Rockefeller, Jr., he said: "I owe a great deal to your father," and told this story, adding: "I took your father's advice."

Having given $1,000,000 to the unemployment fund, John D. Rockefeller and his son now give $500,000 more from the Rockefeller foundation.

John D. Rockefeller, Sr. in his 91st year, and John D. Rockefeller, Jr. in his 56th year, both in excellent health, recall the ancient Jewish saying: "What you give in health is gold, what you give in sickness is silver; what you give after death is lead."

Mr. McFadden, in congress, objects to the confirmation of Eugene Meyer Jr., as governor of the federal reserve board, saying that Mr. Meyer would

TREAT PLANNED FOR CHILDREN AT FAIRMOUNT

Goodyear Balloon Taking Place Of Famous Reindeers

CANTON'S MAYOR WILL BE GUEST

St. Nick's Voyage Made Possible By Kiwanis Club

(By Brush-Moore Leased Wire)

CANTON, Dec. 18.—Santa Claus has said goodbye to his reindeer and will arrive at the Fairmount Children's home Sunday at 1:30 p. m. via the air in a Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. blimp from Akron.

The jolly old man's voyage with toys and good things to eat for all members of the home is sponsored by the Kiwanis club of Canton and was made possible through the cooperation of H. L. Sampson, manager of the Tuscora Tire Co., who negotiated with Goodyear officials to secure the services of the blimp.

Mayor To Make Flight

Mayor H. R. Witter will make the flight with Santa Claus, the pilot, the toys and the good things to eat. The mayor and Santa Claus will leave Canton at 11:30 a. m., taking the gifts with them and will arrive at Akron in time to board the craft which will leave at 12:30 p. m. They expect to arrive at the field in front of the Fairmount Children's home in Alliance at about 1:30 p. m.

There the toys and other material will be unloaded. Santa will cut his characteristic capers among the children, and the stage set for a program which will begin at 2 p. m.

Entertainment Planned

The affair will consist of a skit to be presented by the children and will include songs, dialogues and selections by the band. A juggler and magician which the Kiwanians will bring to the home, will supplement the afternoon's entertainment.

Representatives from Kiwanis clubs in Webster, Carrollton, Massillon, and New Philadelphia will be in attendance. The Canton club members and their wives will make the trip in a body by automobile.

Persons desiring to go up for a ride in the blimp from the field in Alliance will be afforded an opportunity to do so.

Rules Law Void

Federal Judge William T. Clark, of Newark, exploded a legal bombshell when he filed a decision holding that the 18th Amendment never became a part of the Federal Constitution. He held that the ratification of that amendment by the State legislatures was not the method prescribed by the amending article of the Constitution.

BOY, 14, FACING FIRST DEGREE MURDER COUNT

Court Dismisses Abatement Plea In St. Clairsville Case

LAD IS HELD IN DEATH OF GROCER

Suffers Slight Heart Attack When Informed Of Ruling

(By Associated Press)

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Dec. 18.—J. Woods, 14-year-old alleged slayer of Newark, exploded a legal bombshell when he filed a decision holding that the 18th Amendment never became a part of the Federal Constitution. He held that the ratification of that amendment by the State legislatures was not the method prescribed by the amending article of the Constitution.

Judge Cowen dismissed a plea in abatement filed to the first degree murder charge by the youth's attorneys. Woods is charged with the slaying several months ago of William Meeker, 68, Martins Ferry, during an attempted robbery.

Probate Sentence First

Judge Cowen held the youth must stand trial on the charge of murder in common pleas court but that in event he is convicted, the trial court must not pass sentence until after the probate court sentence in the Lancaster Boys Industrial school has expired.

When informed that he must stand trial for murder, Woods suffered a slight heart attack, an ailment to which he had been susceptible recently, but he rallied when his attorney, David James of Martins Ferry told him that he would not permit "men to hurt you."

James and William Nixon, Martins Ferry, the other defense attorneys, will confer later today with Prosecutor George C. McKelvey on the possibility of permitting the youth to plead guilty to a charge of second degree murder.

Await Court Approval

McKelvey has said he would approve such a plea but the plan has not received the approval of the court.

Woods was sentenced to the industrial school on charges of attacking Meeker, before the latter died. Meeker later died of injuries and Woods was returned here and indicted on a first degree murder charge with Louis Kuhlen, 17, who pleaded guilty and now is serving a life term in Ohio penitentiary.

The common pleas court held that should the boy be convicted in common pleas court then "even after sentence to the penitentiary, the board of trustees may change commitment to the Boys' industrial school."

The fact that the youth is under sentence to the school from probate court does not preclude the possibility of his trial in the common pleas court, Judge Cowen held.

ORE IS STOLEN IN MINE RAID

Thieves Dynamite Door Off Treasure room; Value Of Loot Estimated From $2,000 to $5,000

(By International News Service)

DENVER, Dec. 18.—Dynamiting a steel doorway to a treasure room carved out of solid rock, a gang of thieves stole 16 hundred-pound sacks of gold ore, said to total from $2,000 to $5,000 in value, from the underground treasury of the Ibox mine at Leadville, Colo., authorities here revealed today.

The Ibox is one of the most famous of the old Leadville mines, located far above the city near the top of the continental divide. It produced almost pure gold.

The treasure room is located 100 feet below the surface and 150 feet back into the mountain. The ore was taken out through the main hoist of the mine at a time when the mine was closed.

Move To Double Drouth Fund Loses

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—The house today rejected an attempt to double the administration's $30,000,000 drouth relief measure.

The count was 139 to 105 on a standing vote.

Representative Jones, Democrat, Texas, who sponsored the increase, demanded a count by tellers. Those for and against began passing in a line between the tellers immediately.

Second Trial In Rum Expose Opens

WARREN, Dec. 18.—The second trial growing out of the investigation of an alleged alliance between Niles police and law violators was scheduled to start today.

The defendant was Marty Flask, one of the 10 reputed bootleggers who told the grand jury that liquor dealers and gamblers had regularly paid for police "protection" over a period of years. Besides the 10 alleged law violators, seven Niles policemen were indicted on bribery charges.

Slayer Of Family Will Die In Chair

HAMILTON, Dec. 18.—Charles King, 39-year-old barber who killed his wife and four children by removing a gas cap while they slept, today was under sentence to die in the electric chair at Ohio penitentiary April 7.

Judge E. J. Kautz set the date yesterday after overruling King's petition for a new trial. King was convicted of first degree murder of one of his children, Robert, 14, and faced similar charges in connection with the deaths of his wife and three other children.

City In Southern Section Will Pay $28.90 On Each $1,000

NEW KENSINGTON SCHOOL RATE LOW

$21.30 Is Columbiana Assessment; $20.90 Leetonia's

With increases apparent in several major Columbiana county taxing districts, the city of Salem will rank fifth in the rate scale during the year 1931, County Auditor Elmer E. Walker announced today.

Wellsville Tops List

The city of Wellsville for the second consecutive year has the highest tax rate, with New Waterford village second. East Liverpool and East Palestine rates will again be higher than those established for this city.

Wellsville will pay a tax of $28.90 on every $1,000 valuation, an increase of 70 mills over the present rate. In New Waterford, where a higher rate will result from the issuance of bonds for street improvements, taxpayers will be assessed $28.80 on each $1,000.

East Liverpool and East Palestine taxing rates will be $24.90 and $24.70 respectively, while the rate for Salem is set at $24.30, Walker announced.

Salem's rate increase, which is a result of increased city expenses, Walker explained, increases resulted in some 61 rates in many of the county's taxing districts will be the same as that prevalent during 1930.

The lowest rate in the county is $17 which will be levied against residents of the New Kensington school district. Perry township will have a rate of $20.80, Salem township $20.80 and Butler township $19.50. Nine taxing districts will have a rate of $17.40 while the majority in the smaller sections range from that amount to $21.

Other Districts Listed

Rates of various other taxing districts are:

Lakewood village $21.40; Columbiana $21.30; Leetonia $20.90; Liverpool township and a section of St. Clair township in the East Liverpool city school district $22.40.

The county commissioners have extended the time limit for the first payment from December 20, 1930, to January 20, 1931. The rates are based on budgets furnished the county budget commission by the state, county commissioners, city councils, boards of education and township trustees.

BRIGHT GUILTY ON AUTO COUNT

Common Pleas Court Jury Returns Verdict Against Wellsville's Former Cemetery Sexton

LIEBON, Dec. 18.—William G. Bright, 60, former sexton of Springhill cemetery, Wellsville, indicted by the last September grand jury for failure to stop his automobile after striking Paul Culp, aged 7 years, when he was driving on Tenth street, Wellsville, yesterday was found guilty by a jury in common pleas court.

After Judge W. F. Lones completed his charge to the jury, Bright and his counsel returned to Wellsville. After being out about an hour, the jury returned to the court room, but neither the defendant or his counsel were in court.

Reading of the verdict by Clerk of Courts John A. Noble was withheld until Bright and his attorneys returned.

Under the provision of section 12607 of the general code, Bright is subject to a fine of $200 or imprisonment for six months or both.

Mythical Game

BEVERLY HILLS, CALIF., Dec. 18.—One of the best things I heard of, and it might be copied everywhere, was done by Uncle Joseph Daniels and his Raleigh News and Observer.

North Carolina and Duke university had played a game, and there was a big demand or them to play a benefit game, but the Southern Conference forbid (that's one thing about a conference, they want to keep the dough in the conference).

Anthony McKelvin of above paper got the idea of having a mythical game, selling tickets, all charity and not football.

Well, it went great. You would be surprised how many people will pay not to see football. So why not sell charity tickets all over a synthetic Notre Dame-Alabama game?

Yours,
Will Rogers

JUDGE CLARK'S RULING

Two half-frozen state troopers
stopped a truck in New Jersey last March 3. Fifty half-barrels of beer
were found. The person in charge,
William Sprague, was charged with
possessing and transporting beer
containing "more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol."No one paid any attention to the arrest at the time. Sprague was admitted to bail and when the indictment was returned obtained counsel,
a former United States attorney. On examining the case the attorney discovered that it was not complicated
by collateral issues but involved only
a simple violation of the Volstead
act—that of transporting beer with-
in the state and possessing it. He
determined to make it a test case
to take before the supreme court
of the United States.When the government offered its
proof, Sprague's attorney offered no
defense. Instead, he requested the
court to charge the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty on the ground that the indictment did not
charge an offense against the United States because interstate transportation of beer would not be un-
lawful except for the Volstead act,
and likewise possession of beer; and
because the Volstead act, being
based upon the 18th amendment to
the constitution of the United States, is an unlawful act of Congress, since the amendment never
was ratified legally and, therefore,
is not and never has been a part
of the constitution.From that beginning grew the ruling
of Federal Judge William Clark
of New Jersey, published Wednes-
day, to the effect that the method
of adoption makes the 18th amendment invalid. Sprague, of course, has
been relegated to the background;
the constitutionality of the amendment has become the issue. The constitution of a committee of the New York County Lawyers' association,
arguing the case, has been that the
adoption of the 18th amendment
was invalid under the 10th amendment, which modified article 5.
Judge Clark's ruling upholds the
committee's principle, although it
offers widely in argumentative
sures and details.Opinion on the ruling, its strength
and weakness, is a task for minds
thoroughly fortified in constitutional
practice. It will require several days,
at least, before constitutional lawyers will venture tentative opinions
and there can be no authoritative
decision unless the supreme court
gives a decision. That, of course, is
the objective sought by the New York County Lawyers' association.The lay mind will see the force of
two arguments, however, both dependent on common sense.Any ruling on one amendment to the constitution that might also affect a previous amendment must be
judged with the welfare of the
previous amendments foremost in consideration. In other words, the supreme court knowing there is intention of an attack on the validity
of one amendment, might be expected to exercise extreme caution before giving a decision that would
jeopardize the standing of other amendments.More germane to the specific instance is the vital consideration that
the 18th amendment has stood for
more than a decade; has been the
basis of an important national president and, through the Volstead
act, of countless convictions. To admit now that it is unconstitutional
would be to precipitate a condition
of legal chaos. In a very real way
the strength of the supreme court
would be at stake.A timely warning at the moment
would be: Discount liberally from claims made by both wets and dries
to allow for the pressure of strong
feeling and prejudice. If the supreme court gives a decision there will be
time enough to become excited.

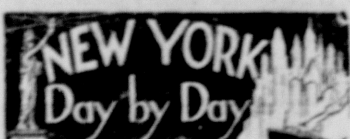

THE BUSY SENATE

The senate foreign relations committee has voted to defer consideration of the World Court protocols until December. It is the short ses-sion's polite way of consigning the matter to legislative limbo as far as it is concerned.Proponents of American adherence to the World Court naturally are displeased with further delay of the approval they expect the senate
will give, but they are forced to admit that the reasons given for the postponement are convincing.The senate is engaged deeply in budgetary debate and action; consideration of an issue calling for as careful weighing as the World Court necessarily does would be crowded in and slighted. The apparently gripping fear that the duly elected representatives of the people may be called into an extra session also is calmed
by the foreign relations committee's decision.Barring unforeseen developments in international attitudes, sentiment
favoring acceptance of the protocols
as they stand now will increase during the next year. Opinion, as expressed in the newspapers of the nation, is overwhelmingly in favor of United States' adherence to the court.The present strong feeling might have been an anti-climax for a less important issue but it will be viewed wholly as a complementary climax as time brings more clear understanding of the World Court.The senate is very busy. A perusal of the congressional record shows it to be so. It can only be hoped that in the long view all its business will stand up worthily in comparison with the important issue it is postponing.

What Others Say

BUSINESS AND LETTERS IN AMERICASome of our self-styled literary iconoclasts are suffering so severely from an inferiority complex that they would be benefited by the attentions of a psychoanalyst.In his address delivered when accepting the Lewis prize for literature, Sinclair Lewis showed singularly poor taste and a curious lack of the sense of fitness by emitting a tirade against American literary conventions and the alleged standards imposed by business men on artists and authors.Commercialism, he declared, ruled
his native land, and the novelist,
the dramatist and the poet were regarded with galling condescension. In fiction, he continued, truth and realism were tabu and
in serious form of literature honest national self-criticism was deprecated and regarded as mere sensation.Even if these statements were approximately true—and they are not—Mr. Lewis might have chosen a more appropriate occasion for the ventilation of his grievances. If America were indeed emerging from dull and safe provincialism,
as the Nobel prize winner asserts,
then his audience of savants and other cultured citizens of Sweden would have been interested in the signs of that emergence. Mr. Lewis violated his own doctrines in his negative and censorious remarks.
He was not realistic and he was not progressive. He aired personal grudges instead of interpreting significant tendencies.Creative work is not denied appreciation in the United States. It is ridiculous to assert that inferior positions are assigned to literary and other artists. They select their own positions, which are not inferior. Science and art directly or indirectly mold the thought and color the existence of the business leaders. Architecture, music, history, biography and criticism are not without honor and influence
even in the marts of Mammon.The shallow pessimism of the literary insurgents of today is, it self a dreary and empty convention.—Chicago News.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—That block
of West 67th street, running directly off Central Park West, is where art flourishes with a big A. The keystone of the district is the Hotel
des Artistes, ramparted almost solidly with studio buildings. It gives more artists than Montmartre.They are not the long-haired dreamers gnawing crusts in garrets
but the short-haired producers who stir out of sleep for cold showers
and work ten hours a day in tapestried hung salons. In off hours they ride to hounds across squelching turfs, go top-hatted to the play
and otherwise live in a world of superlatives.Dour-faced and fustily deferential butlers greet the visitor with stuffed-necked bows. Inside are those vast high-celled rooms with romantic balconies and the glint of enormous open fire places shimmering on silvered tea things. The whole effect is suppressed dignity,
like a drawing room scene in a Mayfair drama.In such settings will be found Harrison Fisher, a study in gray
from hair to spats, and whose girls
peep at you from magazine covers.
Too, Neysa McMein, suggesting the laquais pates beauties she glorifies.
And Russell Patterson, the sartorial Greek god of the quarter.James Montgomery Flagg, a keen artist in any medium—including cartooning—lives there. As do Henry Raleigh, whose dramatic illustrations will make you read any story, and R. M. Brinkerhoff, who draws cartoons and illustrations
with open hand and writes children's books with the other.Everywhere genius piles upon genius. A few steps from where corner building and occupied by Walter Trumbull, sporting writer,

who together with his wife, an archaeologist of distinction, preside
at a weekly tea for the literati. Here
some of the brightest minds of artistic Bohemia are purled.Rudy Vallee uses an imported throat lozenge to soothe the vocal chords for his incessant crooning.
They retail at $1.50 a small box
and Vallee has received an enormous offer to endorse them but, the story goes, refused. In private he is reputed to have said he cannot sing without them. There are some who do not think he can—but never mind. I get plenty mail as it is.An auto at 47th and 7th avenue did not stop at the precise blast of the croaking cop's whistle. The scowling officer walked over to the chauffeur. "Listen you," he barked.
"All letter carriers are home.
This whistle means something."A good and deserved reason for Phil Baker's popularity as a comic psychologist is one of sheer psychology. He loads his "plant" in an eager box with choice gags and when they explode they sting Baker. The more utter ridiculous he is made to appear, the louder the howl. Every one likes to see the defeat of a smart guy.For example: Baker remarks to his "plant" that a beautiful lady's phone number is "Regent 4166."
The "plant" corrects with a withering "4167" which produces a roar
and when it subsides Baker cries:
"I ought to know it is Regent 4166.
I called her up last night." To which the "plant" observes: "I know you did. I answered the phone."And speaking of telephoning, someone—Morris Aleshire, I think—
tells of watching a cross-eyed man with the palsy trying to turn in a fire alarm over a dial phone.There are too many columnists
as it is," writes Fred D. "Gigolo" lead the life. How would you like to join me in a little gigoloing?"
It would be just too lovely if we

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

Varicose Veins

Varicose veins have undoubtedly troubled mankind ever since the days of Noah. Of course, it is an ailment that has become more common since his time. No doubt
we may attribute this increased prevalence to our modern manner
of living.Whenever the word "varicose" is used, it refers to an unnatural swelling. That is exactly what we are dealing with in varicose veins.The veins are unduly large, appear swollen, and there is stagnation of blood in the vessels. The poor circulation is due to the loss of elasticity in the walls of the veins.The condition is most commonly seen in adult women, particularly after child-birth. It is sometimes met in male adults, particularly in men whose work requires long and uninterrupted standing.The veins of the lower extremities and rectum are particularly liable to attack. In the latter region
it is spoken of as "hemorrhoids, or "piles." It may do so, but it very rarely involves other parts of the body.No one cause can be held responsible for this condition. Some persons even under the same conditions of living are much more liable than others to the formation of varicose veins. On this account the ailment has been considered hereditary. Undoubtedly this factor plays a role in the condition.As I have suggested, persons whose occupation demand long continued standing are more prone to the condition. This is especially so if they happen to be overweight, or even moderately stout. There is a loss in the tone of the vessel wall.
Consequently its tissues relax because of the natural weakness and,
with additional weight to support,
they soon stretch.People with varicose veins should never wear tight garters, or other constricting clothes. If constipation is present it should be corrected. Avoid standing as much as possible. When resting after a day's work, the feet should be elevated on a couch or chair.The use of the rubber stocking is of doubtful value. It soon loses its elasticity and when worn after that happens, it does more harm than good.Mechanical support
For mechanical support your physician will bandage your legs with a "figure of eight" dressing. After you have watched him apply it a few times, you will have no difficulty in applying the bandage yourself. For this purpose it is considered good practice to use an elastic gauze bandage. Such bandages are not only elastic, but they can be washed and kept clean.Recently the so-called injection treatment for varicose veins has been used with great success. I am told. By those who apply it this method is considered preferable to the operation which is sometimes indicated. The injection of certain medications into the varicose vein causes its disappearance. The procedure is simple, painless and rightly applied is without danger.Needless to say, this ailment is one that requires the personal and skillful attention of the physician.
Under his direction you may hope
for relief.Answers to Health Queries

LIQUOR RULING SPEEDS TOWARD HIGH TRIBUNAL

Supreme Court To Get Clark's Decision On Amendment

(By Associated Press)
TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 18.—Federal authorities moved today to expedite to the Supreme Court Judge William Clark's decision invalidating the Eighteenth amendment.

Phillip Forman, United States attorney, returned from Washington where he conferred with Attorney General Mitchell and other officials.

Will Go To High Court
He said he planned to ask Clark today to have the legal machinery set in motion which will carry the case to the United States vs. Sprague and Howey to the highest court. The necessary steps include entering of a judgement by Judge Clark, filing of an appeal petition and the granting of an order for the appeal by the court.

The effect of filing an appeal will be to hold Judge Clark's decision in abeyance until it has been reviewed by the supreme court. Although defense attorneys in New Jersey and other states lost no time in seeking to have indictments against their clients quashed on the basis of Judge Clark's decision, other federal judges refused to follow the invalidating opinion.

Not Bound By Decision
Federal Judge William Runyon at Newark, in the first liquor case before him after the rendering of Judge Clark's opinion, refused to dismiss the defendant on the ground the Eighteenth amendment was invalid. He said he was not bound by Judge Clark's decision and that the supreme court had passed on the Eighteenth amendment.

In Boston, three former assistant United States attorneys, acting as counsel for three liquor case defendants, filed motions to quash the indictments, basing their motions on the New Jersey decision that Eighteenth amendment was invalid. The United States attorney's office said the Clark decision was of no effect in that district.

Two cases in which the validity of the Eighteenth amendment is attacked are now pending in federal courts in New York and Rhode Island.

"turn the federal reserve system over to international financiers." That is upside down. If Mr. Meyer did any turning, he'd turn international financiers over to the federal reserve system.

Mr. Meyer is a first class American, an extremely able financier, and, as head of the federal reserve board, he may give to finance, and some other things in this country, a leadership that they now lack.

Professor Einstein says that if the Fascists, with their blind hatred of the Jews, should get control of Germany, he would live in some other country.

In that case, history would repeat itself.

Persecution of Jews drove many of the ablest minds from Portugal and Spain, men that could have prevented the Spanish decline into failure and superstition. Among those thus driven out were the parents of the great Spinoza.

At about the same time, the wisdom of Cromwell, welcoming Jews, helped to build the prosperity of England.

Wall Street said yesterday: "It's a long worm that has no turning." The Wall Street worm turned and bit the bear, busy attacking values. Prices went up from 1 to 19 points, the bear was squeezed, and didn't like it.

It was said early in the day that the house of Morgan was preparing his experience for Mr. Bear. However, there will be another day, since the bear was only bitten, not slaughtered.

A suit brought by the fathers of the Blessed Sacrament in New York to obtain payment of a legacy of $305,000 left to them by the late Thomas Fortune Ryan illustrates the power and comfort of faith persisting even through a long comparative business life. Mr. Ryan left the money to the fathers of the Blessed Sacrament, according to his will, "in consideration of spiritual benefits to be perpetually received by the decedent."

Battle Of Shears Ends In Court

(By Associated Press)
DETROIT, Dec. 18.—Joseph Woznick took one look at his wife's haircut and said flatly he didn't like it.

"I'm going to give that barber a trimming," said he.

Forthwith he went to Henry Lienau's barber shop.

"Which one of you fellows cut my wife's hair?" he demanded.

Charles Kirsch, busily working on a customer, was pointed out by Lienau.

"All right," said Joseph, "I'll just trim up your hair like you did my wife's." He seized a pair of shears and fell to work.

The hair flew as tonorial work was suspended and all hands rushed to Kirsch's defense. Lienau received several jabs with shears. The whole affair wound up in court yesterday when Woznick was ordered to pay Lienau $100 damages. He also paid a $10 fine for disorderly conduct.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 18. Counsel for Wilbur Gilliland, Columbus, alleged to have robbed the Wellspring bank several days ago, will say he was not wholly responsible for the robbery although "mentally sound" when the trial starts Monday. STATE MOURNS LOSS OF SENATOR FRANK L. GREENE

Wife, Daughter At Bedside; Two Sons Also Survive

(By Associated Press)
ST. ALBANS, VT., Dec. 18.—Vermont today mourned the passing of Frank L. Greene, her senior United States senator. He died here yesterday after an operation Monday.

Two sons, Stuart of Boston, and Captain Richard Greene, U. S. A., who is stationed at Fort Sill, Okla., were enroute to their home here today. Captain Greene planned to make most of the journey by airplane.

Wife, Daughter At Side.
Senator Greene's wife and daughter, Mrs. Harris Alexander, were at his side when he died.

Senator Greene had been partially paralyzed since 1924 when he was struck by a stray bullet fired in a gun fight between bootleggers and prohibition agents in Washington. For days his life was despaired of. It was at this time that he showed his loyalty to his duty and his unflinching support to Calvin Coolidge, when he insisted on being carried into the senate chamber to vote in support of President's Coolidge's veto of the bonus bill. His right arm was paralyzed and one leg affected by the wound.

Began As Newboy

He was born here, Feb. 10, 1870. He sold papers, ran errands, acted as a janitor and did farm work in the support of the family, when a boy.

In 1891 he became a reporter for the St. Albans Daily Messenger and eight years later was its editor.

In 1902 he entered politics as a member of the Vermont house of representatives. He served as a delegate at large to the Republican National convention six years and in 1912 was elected to congress. He entered the senate in 1923 and two years ago was re-elected to serve until 1935.

Funeral services will be held Saturday. Burial will be in St. Albans.

THREE BANDITS DIE IN HOLDUPS

Former Orchestra Leader Slain In Attempted Robbery

(By International News Service)
CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—One of three bandits slain last night in attempted robberies was identified by authorities today as Joseph Shoer, 35, formerly well-known orchestra leader of Detroit and Madison, Wis.

Sixth To Be Killed
The robber identified as Shoer was the sixth to be shot and killed here this week in attempted store holdups that went awry. Another victim, likewise an orchestra leader, was Henry Escalona, who was killed in a butcher shop holdup.

Shoer, who formerly led an orchestra in one of Detroit's largest night clubs, entered a local haberdashery last night and after purchasing a muffler, drew a revolver. Policeman Michael nearly stepped from a rear room where he had been stationed and drew his revolver. Shoer fell dead with six bullets in his body.

Monarchy Throttles Rebellion In Widespread Parts Of Spain

(By Associated Press)
MADRID, Dec. 18.—General strikes in widespread parts of Spain plagued the government today, but the monarchy slowly was throttling them and re-establishing order.

Eleven persons were killed and a number wounded in disturbances yesterday in Torrelavega, the Province of Andalusia, and Oviedo. The government claimed to be in definite ascendancy everywhere except in Alicante with some agitation in Barcelona.

Mount Machine Guns

Thousands of troops and members of the Spanish Foreign Legion have been rushed to Alicante to quell disturbances there. Machine guns have been mounted at strategic places and many arrests have been made.

Legionnaires re-took the railroad station at Elda from strikers who captured it and cut private and state telegraph lines. The encounter developed into a brisk fight. Strikers and police fought in Alicante with the military finally restoring order. There were clashes in Orihuela where three women were injured.

A few minor strikes still exist in the Barcelona area but concentration of troops there has bettered the situation. It is said that radical members of the Barcelona city council are planning to resign because they do not sympathize with the government's handling of recent developments.

Supports Government

The "Free Labor Syndicate" of Barcelona issued a manifesto stating that it was supporting the government since it wished peace and had been an unwilling victim to the seditious activities of the "Syndicato Unico", radical organization. Strikes are reported from the nearby towns of Tarrasa, Sabadell, Igualada and Lerida.

Dispatches from the north coast of Spain indicate a betterment of the situation there with workers on Bilbao, Coruna, Santander, San Sebastian and Ferrol promising to return to work today.

"A straight line is the shortest distance..."
YOU need a flashlight or an alarm clock. That's one point in a common geometrical problem. Somewhere a manufacturer is making, a store is offering for sale, exactly the flashlight or alarm clock you should have. That's the second point in your private problem. . . . And advertising is the straight line that shows the shortest distance between the two!
Day after day, in the advertising pages, you'll find straight lines drawn direct to the products you need. Look for them. Follow them. They may save you hours of searching!
And more than time, they'll save you money. Advertised products are those whose honest worth has made them popular. MARKETS

MARKET IS DULL AFTER ADVANCES

Number Of Shares Rise Before Profit-Taking Begins

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—The stock market extended yesterday's gains in the early trading today, met enough realizing to cancel part of the 1 to 3 point advances and then turned dull on the reaction.

Buying in the first half hour reached virtually the entire list. Rough activity was more moderate than during Wednesday's rebound. Shorts in Auburn Auto covered busily and the stock was bid up 8 points. Allied Chemical, Corn Products, Chesapeake & Ohio, New York Central, U. S. Steel, American Can and many others rose 2 to 4 before the profit-taking appeared. Bethlehem Steel was one of the few heavy spots, losing a point net.

Call money renewed at 2 per cent.

COUNTY AGENT OUTLINES WORK FOR NEXT YEAR

Lower Says Outlook Good If Sufficient Funds Are Available

County Extension Agent Floyd Lower today declared that the outlook for the 1931 extension program is good, provided sufficient funds can be procured.

Lower points out that rural communities are more interested in extension work, and that more leaders are continually being available, and that during the current year several former 4-H club members have become club leaders. As the extension program grows, more dependence must be placed upon local leaders, Lower said, and also that if the work is not to be curtailed more money must be made available.

Emphasizes Management

Lower holds the opinion that farm management should be more strongly emphasized and many of the extension projects should be built around it.

Following is the suggested program of work for 1931:

Continue and expand 4-H club work.

Enroll more young farmers in keeping farm accounts and hold quarterly group meetings of these cooperators to study farm management.

Assist those completing records to readjust their farm business. Help prepare a county summary.

Conduct a series of weekly meetings to study farm management with one local group.

Growers Meeting in Salem

Continue seed potato work, including test plots and a Michigan tour. Hold growers' meeting at Salem. Enroll several in 400 bushel club project and demonstrate roguing.

Reorganize the Dairy Improvement association. Hold a series of three meetings with two locals of the D. C. S. Company discussing the dairy situation feeding, and legume growing.

Continue the fruit spray information service. Hold another vegetable growers' meeting.

Extend the home beautification work to include more landscape demonstrations. Encourage reforestation.

Hold several meetings with the Soils Laboratory to give soil testing service. Arrange winter meetings for those bringing samples to the laboratory last October to discuss fertility problems.

Help arrange a series of three meetings on recreation and meeting material for leaders and officers of rural organizations.

Discuss Chick Rearing

Conduct a "Grow Healthy Pullet" project with the cooperation of the hatcherymen. Arrange a meeting of hatcherymen and of cooperators to discuss chick rearing. Establish a poultry sanitation demonstration for disease control. Hold a fall tour. Continue poultry records.

Cooperate in holding farmers' institutes. Cooperate with and assist all the rural organizations whenever possible. Help plan the township Farm Bureau programs for next year.

Aid in completing the bee inspection work. Assist in rural electrification work. Arrange live stock grading demonstrations. Disseminate economic information on production and market situations.

Arrange meetings for directors and officers of cooperative organizations to study and discuss membership and business management problems.

SENIORS SCORE IN CLASS PLAY

High School Production To Be Repeated Tonight

develops into the family dictator, with Mrs. Bumpstead being characterized by Susan Lutsch.

Dorothy Haroff portrays the role of Myra Bumpstead, Garnet Lodge is Mabel, a third daughter, with Margaret Steele playing the part of Elaine Bumpstead, the younger daughter who is in love with Bill Clark, played by Donald Lease.

Action becomes concentrated on the romance between Clark, a grocery delivery boy, and Elaine and the mother's opposition to the marriage.

Former Sultor Model

Mrs. Bumpstead has set up for her family, as a model, a former sultor, Victor Orashan. Though they have never seen him, the family has become familiarized with Orashan's character and easily recognizes him when he visits the home.

Myra and Mabel listen with fascination to Mrs. Bumpstead's complaints of Orashan but Elaine refuses to be impressed and agrees with her father.

The father breaks over from his quiet existence when Sam Green, played by Henry Reese, persuades him to attend a lodge meeting and later becomes intoxicated, smokes in the house—against all past family precedent—and humorous action becomes the center of activity.

A pastor, Rev. Stump, who is Donald Miller, plays an important part in the drama. The climax occurs in the entrance of George Ballantine as Detective Quinn who arrests the stranger, Orashan, as a thief and forger, and Mrs. Bumpstead tells her astounded family the sultor was but a grocery boy.

All members of the cast enacted roles well. The play is expected to attract another large audience in its presentation tonight.

AKRON MAYOR DENIES PART IN GRAFT PLOTTING

Weil Refutes Statements Made By Chief Of Police Boss

(By International News Service)

AKRON, Dec. 18.—Allegations and denials that Mayor G. Lloyd Weil of Akron, had a part in an alleged "protection" scheme for underworld activities, had entered the records of a special investigating committee of city council today, as the committee continued its probe into reputed irregularities in the city administration.

Refutes Chief Statements

Following Chief of Police Frank J. Boss to the stand at a meeting of the graft investigating committee late yesterday Mayor Weil refuted statements made by the officer that the city executive was involved in any unscrupulous deals with underworld characters.

Mayor Weil denied under oath that he had sent Boss to a hotel here last Feb. 7 to confer with Leo Isaar, reputed ex-corn sugar "king" of Akron, relative to protection of underworld resorts. Boss had previously testified that he had gone to the hotel to meet Isaar, after he had been requested to do so over the telephone by a voice he said he believed to have been the mayor's.

The police chief testified that he had gone to the hotel and Isaar had asked him to "appoint certain policemen to the vice squad and raid the places he told me to and to lay off other places."

"He said he would pay me $500 for the first month and $1,000 a month thereafter if I would do as he said," Chief Boss asserted on the stand. The chief stated he refused to comply with Isaar's requests and left the hotel.

"MEN OF THE NORTH"

At the Grand

"Men of the North", adventure romance of the North woods, is the attraction tonight at the Grand theatre, with Gilbert Roland and Barbara Leonard heading a large cast of well known players.

The play deals with the adventure of Louis the Fox, French Canadian trapper, wrongly suspected of theft and dogged through the snows by the Northwest Mounted sergeant, Mooney. His love for the Montreal heroine, and his adventures in the snow lands, the rescue of his pursuer at the risk of his own life and freedom, and other incidents abound in the vivid romance of the French Canadian wilds.

The dramatic highlights include the rescue by Louis of the wounded officer, knowing that the act means his arrest; the avalanche that covers the heroine, her rescue from the icy tomb by Louis, the dramatic encounter of hunter and hunted in the snow-bound cabin, and the thrilling dog team dash through the blizzard in the wolf country.

Roland, who plays the hero, is remembered for his roles in "Camille", "The Dove", "A Woman Disputed", and Miss Leonard for her work in "Ladies of the Night Club", "Son of the Gods". The cast includes Robert Elliott, as Mooney, the police sergeant; George Davis, as the corporal; Nena, as the half-breed charmer; and Arnold Korff, famous European actor.

"THE DANCERS"

At the State

When the rhythm of the dance weaves its spell over two beautiful women and embroils a sentimental sweetheart and a ne'er-do-well son of wealth, dramatic intensity is sure to follow.

This situation in the Fox Movie-tone version of the famous stage play, "The Dancers", featuring Lois Moran, which will be shown at the State theatre beginning tonight, comes at the climax of the picture when Phillips Holmes engages Walter Byron, the ne'er-do-well, in a battle over Lois' affections.

Their struggle over this girl, temporarily blinded by the pleasures of gay night life and dancing, is brought to vivid contrast by the pathetic plight of Mae Clarke who, as a professional dancer, is forced to look on while the boy she loves is made a fool of by Lois' selfish behavior.

Lois Moran gives one of the best performances of her career in the role of a dance-crazed modern who all but lost the man she loved before she realized that "all who dance must play the fiddler."

Holmes is splendid and in addition to these players mentioned the cast includes Mrs. Patrick Campbell and Tyrell Davis, the comedian.

Today's Pattern

Your small son or your daughter may use these pajamas—just a matter of crossing the coat on one side or the other. They are very easy to make, and the raw edges are smartly finished with colored braid purchased ready to use; an effective trimming.

Pattern 1807 will be serviceable and warm, made of flannel, and there is a delightful selection of colorful, printed designs this season from which to choose.

THE DAY In Sports

CANTON, AKRON STRONG STARS ON BOTH TEAMS

Salem basketball fans witnessed the two basketball games at Canton McKinley and Akron East on Friday and Saturday will be afforded the opportunity of seeing a potential state championship in action against the Red and Black hard-core representatives. Both East Canton were contestants for the Akron city championship last season, and are advancing to the semi-finals while East went as far as the finals. Each team has the greater portion of its 1929-30 aggregation available this season.

Stone has four lettermen back in his team but this doesn't indicate at his team will be anything outstanding. Chances for a victory either the Canton or Akron holedoes are slim but a couple of easy contests are assured.

East last season, sharing North-South Ohio honors, with McKinley held the Akron city championship and won 14 out of 15 games played during the regular season. Total of 322 points were scored against only 200 by opponents, indicating the team had a powerful offense that held opponents to an average of less than 15 points a game. Russell Estey, all-Ohio forward, led the team scoring with 116 points.

Canton has great prospects of developing a more powerful team in its 1929-30 edition, having lettermen back. McKinley, at its chance for the state title, then it was eliminated by Dayton Stivers, 25-18 in the Ohio tournament last year, but hopes to attain the championship this season. East, after defeating Zanesville and Fremont, lost to Stivers in the finals in a nerve-ringing 18-16 affair.

Believe it or not but two Illinois high school teams clashed in a game that ended 1-0 last season! They were Georgetown and Homer who played in an Illinois district tournament on March 6, 1930. Georgetown scored a foul goal in the first period and retained the lead by stalling. Homer refused to attempt to break up the stall until the last three minutes of play. Same game!

To those fans looking for some really good basketball it will prove north while to visit the Memorial building when either Class A or Class B games are in progress. In the Class A circuit four strong teams are competing for titles. The Groves Electric and Golden Eagles now holding first place, having won their first game, while the Electric Furnace and McArthur Florists each have one setback.

The Class B league includes many players who last year were playing with Class A teams. Much interest is shown in this circuit by fans, it being without a doubt the best of its kind ever organized here. Only a handful of fans take advantage of the entertainment afforded at the games, but it is probable that after the holidays are over increased attendance will result.

The game that is expected to jack them in will be played Monday night when Malcolm Rush, Pete Harsh, Les Older, Bob Campbell and other members of the Salem High team of 1926-27 clash with the Columbiana Boosters at the high school gymnasium. Proceeds of the contest will be used to purchase Christmas dinners for 235 Salem youngsters next week.

Ray Reasbeck, eminent sports authority, will officiate, having contributed his services. A preliminary game will also be played.

Every member of Wilbur Springer's team of three years ago will be in uniform, Kelley announced today.

Included in the players performing for the Ex-Highs will be Ed Siding, Lowell Allen, Lester Older, Gus Tolerton, Malcolm Rush, Robert Campbell and Walter Harsh, the seven lads who represented the Red and Black at the Ohio interscholastic tournament in Columbus in 1927 and advanced to the semi-finals in this tourney. Chet Kridler, a reserve, will also appear, as may Donald Mathews who made the trip to Akron when the team won the district championship by defeating Canton McKinley, Ravenna and Akron St. Vincent's with ease.

Win All-Ohio Honors

Rush and Campbell were awarded all-Ohio honors at forward and center, respectively. Salem being one of few scholastic teams ever playing two men on a state all-star team. Rush is now captain of the Bethany, W. Va. college cage varsity while Campbell is playing basketball at the University of Wisconsin though he is not participating in varsity activities.

Siding, recognized as one of the smartest quarterbacks in history of Salem High football, is now attending school at the University of Cincinnati and is heralded as an outstanding varsity cage prospect. Allen is a member of the Mount Union college varsity squad and has played in several of the college team's games this season. Harsh is a member of the R. E. Grove Electric company team while Older is one of the reasons the Golden Eagles won city Class A titles last season and are expected to repeat this year.

The game is looked on as a magnet to attract a large throng of spectators to the school gym which is being donated by the board of education and school officials. The Boosters are without doubt one of the district's strongest independent cage aggregations and due to the fact that the Ex-Highs have had little opportunity to practice together, are heavy favorites to win.

GROVE ELECTRIC CAGERS ON TOP IN TWO GAMES

Lisbon, New Waterford In Defeats; Golden Eagle Rolls Up Score

R. E. Grove Electric and the Golden Eagle basketball teams of Salem won easy decisions in three Class A cage contests at the Memorial building gymnasium Wednesday night. The Grovemen defeated invading quintets from New Waterford and the Lisbon Pennzolls while the Golden Eagle trounced the Lisbon Lumbermen.

Great offensive work of the Golden Eagle was the outstanding feature of the cage entertainment, the Salem champions rolling up a 69-10 score on the losers.

The Electricians found the Lisbon Pennzolls tough opposition for three periods but started connecting for points in the final quarter to roll up a 44-20 score. At the start of the period the Grovemen led by a 24-18 score.

The final contest saw Groves trounce the New Waterford Independents, 24-14.

Tonight the Electricians battle the newly organized Leetonia Merchants at Kelly's park. The Salem Althouse-Brown Studebakers oppose the Waterford Independents in the preliminary at 7:30.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

By Wanda Barton

Prepare for Christmas Packaging.

A liberal supply of holiday packing materials, if stocked up in advance, will not only be a convenience for the planned gifts, but may also come to the rescue in emergencies. No matter how carefully thought out, there are usually gaps at the last minute—gracious last minute gifts one didn't expect to make. Sometimes to people one hadn't expected to remember. The gift hurriedly selected doesn't give the show away if it's handsomely packed.

And holiday wrappings add a smart touch to the little home-made gifts—the handworked articles for living room or boudoir, the cookies, plum puddings, home-made candies. These, by the way, are more appreciated than ever nowadays, when there are so many young people who don't keep house, and whose relish for home-prepared goodies is exceedingly high, now that they don't get much of it. Home-made candy

may not have the perfect finish of the shop article, but the amateur appearance of it gives it a reputation for superior flavor.

The farsailing housekeeper who has an overflowing crock of home-made cookies on hand—plus a shelf of holiday wrapping materials need have no worry about last-minute gifts to those inadvertently overlooked, or suddenly appeared on the scene.

In addition to the ordinary holly and evergreen paper boxes, a small supply of inexpensive wooden boxes will prove helpful. Some of these colorful boxes, in vivid reds and blacks and greens, after the Russian manner, can now be obtained in modest shops. Filled with home-made goodies they are quite a handsome gift. Or fancy shallow trays with metal handles, if filled with home-made candies or cookies, tied in colored paper and ribbons like fruit baskets, can be kept in a small space, and will come in very handy indeed.

THE HOME KITCHEN

Varying the Christmas Cranberry Dish

For best results, choose cranberries that are fairly large, or at least moderate sized, not the small ones. And they should be a good ripe, uniform red, firm to the touch. Soggy cranberries, or spotty brown ones aren't worth bothering with.

Cranberries are usually served in jelly form, because the skin, if cooked too long, is stringy and unpleasant. However there is a way of cooking the cranberries whole, so that they retain their shape and color, and the skin is tender and edible as much as gooseberries or plums.

Whole Cooked Cranberries
6 cups cranberries
3 cups sugar
1 1/2 cups water.

After the cranberries are washed and drained, place in an enamel saucepan with the sugar and water. Let come to a boil, then cover very tightly, reduce the heat a little, and let cook over a moderate flame for 10 minutes. Do not stir at any time. Remove the scum when finished, then pour carefully into a serving dish and set aside to cool.

Cranberry Jelly
1 quart cranberries
2 cups water
2 cups sugar.

Place the washed berries in a saucepan with water and cook for 20 minutes. Force through a sieve, then pour back into saucepan, add sugar and bring to a boil, then cook 5 minutes more.

When cooking cranberries a pleasant

flavor is imparted to the fruit by adding some chopped pineapple, or diced apples or a half cupful of seedless grapes.

When firm, cranberry jelly can be used as a garnish—cut into small dice and arrange on platters of cold meat, or on salads.

Pennzip—for a winged motor.
